Description

Discover the most interesting and historical sites in Dalmatia with our private local guide who will introduce you the most interesting sites and authentic locations.

Our guide will suggest you the itinerary that will in the best way suits your wishes and needs and fulfill your expectations. Explore the UNESCO protected Diocletian's Palace (4th cent. A.D.) and the Old town of Split. is an ancient palace built for the Roman Emperor Diocletian at the turn of the fourth century AD, that today forms about half the old town of Split, Croatia. Take a walk through the medieval streets and sights in the old town of Trogir, perhaps also go for a visit to Salona - ancient city and the capital of the Roman province of Dalmatia. The name Salona preserves the language of the early inhabitants of this area whom the Romans called Dalmatae, and considered to be part of a larger group called Illyrians. Salona (or Salon) is situated in today's town of Solin, right next to Split. Discover also the medieval fortress of Klis, dalmatian limestone stronghold, house of Croatian kings and dukes was defending point against Ottoman Empire.
